Murch Family of Trenton

From fisherman from England to farmers in Hancock County, the tree leads to Theo Murch and then the present

Walter Murch, a fisherman, emigrated from England to America around 1700. He and his sons John and William Murch were early settlers of York and Biddeford, Maine. Then John's son, John Murch Jr., a farmer, mill owner, and Revolutionary War soldier, moved from Biddeford, Maine, to the Union River area in what today is Trenton, Maine, to start the Hancock County Murch family tree.

Florence Theo Murch, a great- great- great-granddaughter of John Murch Jr. was the grandmother of Mary Bunker (Hodgkins) Banfield.

Walter Murch[1]

Walter Murch had wed Deborah Cornish before 1700 in England and they came to America about 1701. He was in York, Maine, in 1715, for Walter Murch was on a grand jury in York in 1715 and he received a grant of 20 acres clear on March 8, 1715. He received a grant of 10 acres of swamp clear on March 13, 1715, (where the recorder could find it clear of all former grants). He was listed as a fisherman.

Florence Theo (Murch) Reynolds stands with her mother-in-law Olive Reynolds and her daughter Olive Reynolds

Virginia S. Spiller of the Old York Historical Society in York, Maine,[1] thinks that Walter Murch evidently came to York about 1714, which was the third migration to York. Early residents of York, Maine, had come from Scituate, Newbury, Newburyport, and Ipswich in Massachusetts. The earliest settlers in York, Maine, she said, had come from the Plymouth Colony and the Boston area.

Walter Murch at one point was involved in a somewhat confusing land transaction that included his two sons William and John Murch, and his son-in-law John Phillips. Virginia Spiller provided this information to a Rod Murch:

"Walter Murch, John Phillips, William Murch, and John Murch, all of York within the province of Massachusetts Bay in New England, all fishermen, sold land to William Pepperrell of Kittery. Walter and John signed with their mark. They had originally purchased the land from William Pepperrell, who had originally purchased it from Edward Baile and Henry Lyon. The land was in the town of York, lying near the lower Ferry there, and contained houses and barns and fences. The transaction was recorded Jan. 4, 1725. In the body of the land transaction, however, it stated that this agreement took place actually on Dec. 24, 1723."

So it appears that the first half of the land transaction was this: "Walter Murch was to have the island where he was presently living with the houses and stage. All of the land that lay over and against Walter Murch's property was to be divided among the remaining three buyers."

Then the second half of the transaction went thus: "We Walter Murch, John Phillips, William Murch, and John Murch, all of York, fishermen, sell to William Pepperrell all of the land with island in York near the lower Ferry which William Pepperrell sold to them in 1723...all houses, barns, stages, fences, and all our rights in York common lands. Wives: Deborah Murch, Deborah Phillips, Tabitha Murch, and Hannah Murch."

Virginia Spiller said that the land involved is Harker's Island.

Walter and Deborah Murch apparently had three children: Deborah Murch who married John Phillips of York in 1725, William Murch who married Tabitha Young in 1726, and John Murch who married Hannah Kent from Newbury and Ipswich, Mass., in 1727.

John Murch$_2$

John Murch (Walter Murch$_1$) was born about 1704 in York, Maine, and died about 1760 in Biddeford (or as late as 1763). Hannah (Kent) Murch was born about 1705 in Biddeford (or in York) and died in 1746 in Biddeford. They had married Dec. 11, 1727.[2]

John Murch and his brother William Murch, his father Walter Murch, and his brother-in-law John Philips were involved in another property transfer in 1728. John Murch bought land from Henry Donnell of York on the Saco River in Biddeford.[3]

James Kent, who was a weaver of Newbury, Mass., in May of 1722, was likely the brother of Hannah Kent. James Kent married Hannah Hodgkins of Ipswich, Mass., a daughter of William Hodgkins. James Kent bought land from John Whitney in the town of York in December of 1722. He was in York in 1728. He was in Biddeford in 1731 and in 1738. Their children were Amy Kent, born in 1723, and John Kent, born in 1725.

Following the death of Hannah Murch, Clement Kent, a potter from Newbury, Mass., was appointed guardian of the minor children of Hannah, pertaining to property inherited from their uncle Stephen Kent of Newbury, Mass. The children were Hannah, John, William, and Sarah Murch of Biddeford. John Murch Jr. was named a son of John Murch Sr. of Biddeford in the latter's will dated Oct. 25, 1760, and probated Jan. 3, 1764.[4]

John Murch Jr.$_3$

The following account of John Murch Jr. (John$_2$, Walter Murch$_1$) is largely based on a report in Maine Families in 1790.[5] John Murch Jr. was born in Saco, or Biddeford, on Oct. 8, 1739, a son of John and Hannah (Kent) Murch.[6]

John Murch Jr. married Elizabeth Day on May 1, 1761, in Biddeford.[7] Although her given name was blank on the marriage record, that her name was Elizabeth is proven in deeds and on the baptismal records of their first four children. Elizabeth Murch died on Dec. 24, 1805, at the age of 70, thereby determining that she had been born about 1735.[8]

John Murch Jr. then married Charity Cook of Sullivan, daughter of John and Elizabeth "Betsy" (Harford or Hartford) Cook on July 17, 1806.[9] Charity Murch had been born in 1771 or 1772 and died April 20, 1847, about the age of 75.[10] John Murch Jr. died March 15, 1820, at the age of 81.[11]

John Murch Jr. left Biddeford after the baptism of his son Samuel Murch in 1767 and settled on the west side of the Union River (Trenton) on a farm afterward owned by his son-in-law, Col. Jesse Dutton.[12]

John Murch Jr. and his brother William Murch of Biddeford were major shareholders in a dam and mill on the Union River.

Initially, "Benjamin Milliken and Thomas claimed the mill privileges on both sides of the (Union) river," according to Dr. Calvin Peek. "The first dam and mill built on this river did not stand long, was carried away by the freshet. When the second dam was built by the Millikens, feeling unable to build the whole, (they) let the settlers have the privilege on the west side, they building half of the dam. The mill on the west side was owned by John Murch, Benjamin Joy, Samuel Joy, and others."[13]

"They (the Millikens) built their mills on the east end of the dam and sold the west end and privileges to William and John Murch, and Benjamin and Samuel Joy," according to another source. "Each party was to keep his end of the dam in repair....On the westerly end, William Murch, of Biddeford, sold his interest to his brother John of Union River, April 14, 1771, and Oct. 16, 1771. The Joy and Murch families run the mill for many years. About 1815 it came into the hands of Andrew Peters and Samuel Dutton."[14]

In the meantime, John Murch on June 10, 1772, sold for £40 one-eighth part of a sawmill on the Union River to Benjamin Bates of Salem, Mass.[15]

During the American Revolution, John Murch Jr. served briefly in the Army[16] during the fateful Penobscot Expedition. The following appears to be his service record: "Private, Capt. Ebenezer Buck's company of volunteers, Col. Josiah Brewer's regiment, Gen. Lovell's brigade; entered service July 30, 1779; discharged Aug. 14, 1779; service, 17 days, on Penobscot expedition."[17]

John Murch Jr. and his son Joseph Murch on March 26, 1784, were two of the 27 signers of a petition of inhabitants of Union River to the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Bay. Stating that they had spent 17 years as inhabitants, building houses and clearing and cultivating the land, they indicated they were "apprehensive from the great turn of affairs that have taken place in the State" and were afraid the State might be unaware that there were inhabitants who were true friends.

"Though we have been obliged to bow to the power of Britain while we were under their notes or lose all that we had, they wrote, "as several of us have had our cattle drove off to the British Garrison for not conforming to their orders in season." Thus, the signers petitioned "that we may be established in our present possessions."[18]

On Dec. 13, 1788, the DeGregoires granted to John Murch Jr. and two sons a deed to 300 acres of land on the Union River in Trenton for 15 Spanish milled dollars with the proviso that John and his two sons settle on the property.[19] Consequently, John Murch Jr.sold to his son-in-law, Jesse Dutton, a cordwainer or shoemaker, on Oct. 13, 1790, his "whole farm with dwelling house, barn and all appurtenances on the northeast side of the Penobscot River with six days in the double sawmill on the western side of Union River."

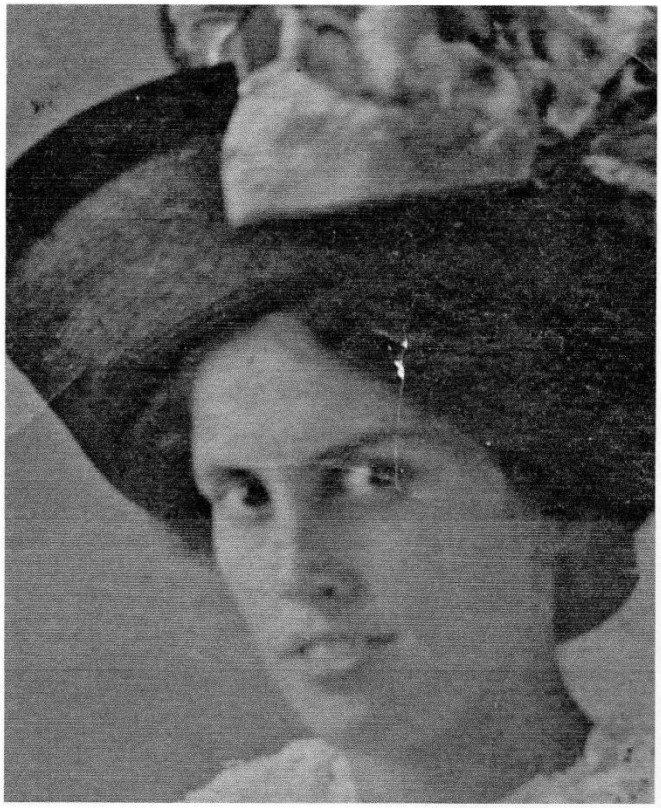
Dutton paid John Murch Jr. £80 and John's wife Elizabeth Murch signed the deed.[20] John Murch Jr. then sold 100 acres each of land in Trenton to sons John Murch III and Noah Murch for £30 each on April 20, 1791. Elizabeth Murch again signed both deeds.[21] Next, on Nov. 30, 1792, John Murch sold to his son John Murch III for £150 "the farm on which I live including dwelling house and barn." Elizabeth Murch did not sign this deed.[22]

On Dec. 5, 1796, John Murch, yeoman, sold property "for and in consideration of the love and good will which I have for my son Joseph Murch of Union River...in testimony thereof I the said John Murch and Elizabeth my now married wife in token of her relinquishing right of dower hereto set our hands and seal."[23] Elizabeth Murch then died Dec. 24, 1805, at the age of 70.

"John Murch had lot on easterly side of Oak Point, three hundred acres. John Murch married Mrs. Charity Cook of Sullivan, July 17, 1806-7."[24] Two weeks before marrying Charity Cook, John Murch Jr. deeded two pieces of land in Trenton to her on July 1, 1806, "in consideration of the love and good will I have for Charity Cook.[25] John Murch Jr. still had land in Trenton Town on June 7, 1817, when he and Charity sold 100 acres or more on the west side of the Union River to Jesse Dutton for $600.[26]



Florence Theo (Murch) Reynolds

John Murch Jr.'s will, dated June 26, 1807, and probated July 27, 1820, names only his children by his first wife: sons John III and Noah, each to receive $1.00; his son Joseph to have one-twelfth or two days of a sawmill situated on the banks of the Union River on the lowest dam; daughter Phebe, wife of Jesse Dutton, to have $1.00; granddaughter Hannah Flye, heir of John' Jr.s late daughter Hannah, to have $2.00; and the remainder to Charity Murch and to her heirs and assignees forever. The estate was settled on July 30, 1821.[27]

The names of John Murch Jr. and his three sons, Joseph, Noah, and John III appeared in the account book of Donald Ross of Union River in 1793. Joseph Murch's name appears in the books of Col. Meletiah Jordan of Union River for 1776-1793.[28]

Hannah Murch was born Nov. 20, 1763, in Biddeford, Maine.[29] She married Jonathan Flye, son of William and Phoebe (Tuttle) Flye about 1783[30] before dying in childbirth Dec. 29, 1784.[31] Hannah Murch's daughter Hannah married her first cousin James Flye in Sedgwick, Maine, Feb. 5, 1807.[32] She lived in Seal Cove, Mount Desert Island.[33]

John Murch III was born Aug. 11, 1764, in Biddeford, Maine.[34] He married Ruth Norwood on Sept. 4, 1787,[35] and then Mary Young on June 14, 1817.[36]

Joseph Murch was born May 23, 1766, in Biddeford, Maine.[37] He married Susannah Joy, the first white girl born in Ellsworth and a daughter of Benjamin and Rebecca (Smith) Joy, April 23, 1790, in Blue Hill, Maine.[38] In 1850, Joseph, a farmer about 84 years old, and Susan, about 77 years old, were living in Ellsworth.[39] Joseph Murch died Nov. 3, 1859, at the age of 96.[40] A long obituary for Susan Murch was published in the Ellsworth American issue of Sept. 12, 1862, which stated that she died on her 89th birthday and that she had 13 children, most still living, and 92 great-grandchildren.

Samuel Murch was born on July 26,1767, in Biddeford, but otherwise no information on him is available.[41]

Phebe Murch, who was born about 1768, married Jesse Dutton before 1790.[42] Phebe died July 27, 1837, at the age of 69.[43]

Noah Murch, who was born about 1770, married Hannah Haynes, daughter of Ephraim and Zilphia (Finney) Haynes, Oct. 18, 1792, in Blue Hill, Maine. Noah Murch acquired no land other than the 100 acres from his father. He always lived in Trenton, but left no will or probate. Noah Murch died Dec. 12, 1848, at the age of 78.[44]

The children of John Murch Jr.'s second wife, Charity (Cook) Murch:

Cyrus Murch, who was born about 1805, married Rhoda Leland about 1825.[45] Cyrus Murch reportedly was a soldier in the Aroostook War. He was a master mariner. He died April 21, 1856.[46]

John C. Murch, who was born about April 1807, married Jane H. Marshall in Trenton on Nov. 28, 1841. John C. Murch was a master mariner.[47] John C. Murch died March 20, 1872.[48]

Eliza D. Murch, who was born about 1808 or 1809, married her first cousin, John Alexander Cook Mercer on Dec. 4, 1830, in Hancock, Maine,[49] and then Thomas Moon, Nov. 14, 1849, in Hancock, Maine.[50] Eliza died April 6, 1875.

Mary A. Murch, who was born about 1810 or 1811, married her first cousin, William F. Mosley, Feb. 8, 1832, in Hancock, Maine. Mary died May 4, 1882, in Trenton.[51]

Jane Murch, who was born Feb. 13, 1814, married John Ford on May 1, 1837, in Trenton. Jane died April 6, 1859.

Charity C. Murch, who was born May 6, 1818, first married Joseph Moore Jr. on Dec. 16, 1838, in Trenton, and then Samuel Royal on Nov. 11, 1879.[52] Charity died Oct. 8, 1907. Her long obituary in the Ellsworth American issue of Oct. 9, 1907, indicates that "it was 100 years from the time of her father's birth to the birth of her first child" and that she had six children with her first husband.

Joseph Murch$_4$

Joseph Murch (John Jr.$_3$, John$_2$, Walter Murch$_1$) was born May 23, 1766, in Biddeford, son of John and Elizabeth (Day) Murch.

Joseph Murch reportedly served as a midshipman in the Revolutionary War.[63]

He was a signer with his father, John Murch Jr., of a Petition of Inhabitants of Union River in 1784 to the Senate and House of Representatives of Massachusetts, stating that since many of them had spent 17 years settling the land, clearing and cultivating it, that they would like to "be established in our present possessions."

Joseph Murch married Susannah Joy, reportedly the first white girl born in Ellsworth, Maine. She was a daughter of Benjamin and Rebecca (Smith) Joy. Joseph Murch married her April 23, 1790, in Blue Hill, Maine.[64]

In 1850, Joseph Murch, a farmer about 84 years old, and Susan, about 77 years old, were living in Ellsworth.[65] Joseph Murch died Nov. 3, 1859, at the age of 96.[66]

A long obituary for Susan Murch was published in the Ellsworth American issue of Sept. 12, 1862, which stated that she died on her 89th birthday and that she had 13 children, most still living, and 92 great-grandchildren.

There is no clear record of how Joseph Murch acquired his property on the west side of the Union River. Part of it was probably land later confirmed to his son Joseph Murch Jr., which, according to the deed, had been allocated to Joseph Murch Sr. but never recorded.[67]

Joseph Murch inherited from his father one-twelfth or two days of a sawmill on the Union River banks on the lowest dam.[68]

On March 13, 1824, Joseph Murch Sr. of Surry, yeoman, sold to Joseph Murch Jr. of Surry, yeoman, land in Surry including a dwelling house, all animals, etc., and all appurtenances.[69] On March 28, 1824, Susannah Murch released dower when Joseph Murch Sr. sold to Joseph Murch Jr. 100 acres representing Joseph Murch Sr.'s interest in Lot No. 3 of the Peters Plan on the east side of the Union River.[70] On Dec. 28, 1842, Joseph and Susannah Murch of Ellsworth sold to their son William Murch of Ellsworth the northerly 50 acres being the "corner of my homestead as it formerly existed," abutting widow Abbott's lot and running to the shore of the Union River.[71]

Joseph and Susannah Murch's children as found. Susan (Joy) Murch's obituary indicates there were 13 children, although only ten have been identified by name:

William Murch, who was born about 1790-1792, first married Jane Foss in January 1817 and then Sarah E. (Barks) (Jordan) Clark on Dec. 23, 1863. William Murch served in the War of 1812 as a private in Lt. Col. John Black's 2nd Regiment called out to defend Mount Desert Dec. 28, 1813.[72] William Murch died between Jan. 20, 1872, and 1880.

(21) Obituary from Ellsworth American - September 12, 1862

Boston, Sept. 2, on her 89th birthday, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Susan MURCH, widow of the late Joseph Murch and daughter of Mr. Benjamin Joy, one of the first settlers of the town of Ellsworth, she being the first female childl born in the town. She was the mother of 13 children, most of whom are still living; had 92 great-grandchildren. Her remains were deposited beside those of her husband in this town; her husband died about 3 years ago at the ripe old age of 99 years. She went to Boston soon after her husband's death, to spend the remainder of her days with her daughter. During her last sickness she was surrounded by kind and affectionate children and friends, and had all of the consolation which religion and most tender affection could bestow. She experienced religion when she was 50 years of age, and her declining years were blessed by a calm and submissive spirit. Her temperate conduct and sweetness of disposition toward those around her and her kind hospitality and charity will long be remembered by those of her neighbors who still survive her. She was a kind mother and faithful in all her maternal duties. She has left behind her the savor of a good name which is better than precious ointments.

graduated second in his class (1892) and won Phi Beta Kappa, an honor that his son Robert would receive nearly thirty years later. His "rhetoricals" at Oberlin and years of listening to his father's preaching proved to be good training for public speaking. He won Yale's highest honor in oratory in his senior year—the DeForest Prize, another honor his son Robert would take as a Yale student. Hutchins returned to Oberlin in 1893 and spent the next two years at the Oberlin Theological Seminary, tutoring students in Greek to help finance this study.[15] Transferring to Union Theological Seminary in New York to prepare to enter the Presbyterian ministry, he finished in 1896. Something of an iconoclast, he did not believe in original sin, imputed guilt, or the absolute historicity of Genesis or Exodus. These were all signs that his theology was modernist rather than conservative.[16]

Like many of his liberal colleagues, Hutchins had accepted Darwinian evolutionary theory and the higher criticism of the German and American theologians of the period. His doctrinal positions were problematic to conservative members of the Brooklyn Presbytery, who called him back for questioning before they would agree to his ordination. In the end, they had no doubts as to his suitability as a practicing minister. According to one member of the group, he was good, frank, noble, and intelligent.[17] He was ordained in the summer of 1896. In August he married Anna Laura Murch, a native of Cleveland whom he had met at Oberlin. His father officiated at their wedding.

Anna Murch's family also provided models and standards for the next generation of Hutchins boys. Her grandfather Nathaniel J. Murch, a sailor, brick maker, and farmer, married Mary B. Fullerton, the first white female born in Ellsworth, Maine. Anna's father, Maynard Hale Murch (1827–1908), also was a sailor. On his first voyage, at the age of eleven, he sailed nearly around the world over the course of more than a year. He learned shipbuilding in Bath, Maine, and eventually moved west to Cleveland, Ohio. After his first wife died, he married Lucy M. Stephenson (1844–1920) in 1870. He and Lucy had three children. Anna Laura and Maynard Hale Murch, Jr., survived into adulthood. Maynard, Jr., became a prominent businessman in Cleveland. Maynard, Sr., continued to build and captain ships on Lake Erie. He was known as a man of "moral courage" and great faith, who never sailed without his Bible.[18]

Anna Murch attended Cleveland Public High School, passed her Latin examination in 1890, and spent the years from 1890 to 1894 enrolled at Oberlin College. Like Will Hutchins, she took a rigorous course of

From Lake Superior.

The steamer Northern Light, Capt. Murch, arrived from Lake Superior at 2 o'clock P. M. Wednesday. She brought down two hundred and forty tons of copper and two hundred and five tons of iron ore, seven hundred packages of fish, and about ten tons of miscellaneous freight. She also had one hundred passengers, one of whom handed us the following, which explains itself:

ON BOARD STEAMER NORTHERN LIGHT, ST. CLAIR RIVER, August 4, 1868.

At an informal meeting of the passengers who had enjoyed a trip to Lake Superior on this favorite boat, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We, the undersigned, passengers on board the steamer Northern Light, returning from a very pleasant trip to the many points of interest and instruction of Lake Superior and intermediate ports; and,

WHEREAS, We have received every attention for comfort and safety from Captain Murch and his officers; who have spared no pains to increase the pleasure and welfare of those on board; therefore,

Resolved, That we consider the Northern Light one of the staunchest and safest of her kind and her officers are all thoroughly qualified for their positions, which they fill to the satisfaction and comfort of their passengers.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed to the publishers of the Detroit and Cleveland papers, with a request that they publish them.

Resolved, That we return our sincere thanks to Captain Murch, his officers and his crew, for their untiring care and attention during the ten days that we have passed on board the "Light."

Resolved, That we heartily recommend to our friends who contemplate a trip to the cool and bracing localities and interesting regions of Lake Superior, to take passage on the Northern Light. Its officers are prudent, kind and sociable; the table is unexcelled by any model hotel, and the steward, clerk and crew competent and attentive to the wants of their passengers.

Chairman—W. W. WILLIAMS, New York.
Secretary—M. J. LAWRENCE, Cleveland.

Signed—George Morehouse and wife, Detroit; W. E. Gentle and wife, Detroit; D. Seeley and wife, Detroit; S. Hymrn and family, Cleveland; J. O. Mason and wife, Cleveland; H. H. Hadley and wife, Cincinnati; Mrs. C. C. Hadley, Sandusky, and ninety others.

The Northern Light leaves Hanna & Co.'s dock for Lake Superior at 8 P. M. Friday, the 7th instant.

Lake Superior Boats.

In publishing the list of captains of the steamers in the Lake Superior line an error occurred in giving Captain Kelly a position on the Pacific and Captain Murch on the St. Louis. The positions should be reversed. Captain Ed. Kelly will command the St. Louis and Captain M. H. Murch the Pacific. That experienced engineer, Thomas J. Quirk, takes charge of the machinery of the St. Louis.

graduated second in his class (1892) and won Phi Beta Kappa, an honor that his son Robert would receive nearly thirty years later. His "rhetoricals" at Oberlin and years of listening to his father's preaching proved to be good training for public speaking. He won Yale's highest honor in oratory in his senior year—the DeForest Prize, another honor his son Robert would take as a Yale student. Hutchins returned to Oberlin in 1893 and spent the next two years at the Oberlin Theological Seminary, tutoring students in Greek to help finance this study.[15] Transferring to Union Theological Seminary in New York to prepare to enter the Presbyterian ministry, he finished in 1896. Something of an iconoclast, he did not believe in original sin, imputed guilt, or the absolute historicity of Genesis or Exodus. These were all signs that his theology was modernist rather than conservative.[16]

Like many of his liberal colleagues, Hutchins had accepted Darwinian evolutionary theory and the higher criticism of the German and American theologians of the period. His doctrinal positions were problematic to conservative members of the Brooklyn Presbytery, who called him back for questioning before they would agree to his ordination. In the end, they had no doubts as to his suitability as a practicing minister. According to one member of the group, he was good, frank, noble, and intelligent.[17] He was ordained in the summer of 1896. In August he married Anna Laura Murch, a native of Cleveland whom he had met at Oberlin. His father officiated at their wedding.

Anna Murch's family also provided models and standards for the next generation of Hutchins boys. Her grandfather Nathaniel J. Murch, a sailor, brick maker, and farmer, married Mary B. Fullerton, the first white female born in Ellsworth, Maine. Anna's father, Maynard Hale Murch (1827–1908), also was a sailor. On his first voyage, at the age of eleven, he sailed nearly around the world over the course of more than a year. He learned shipbuilding in Bath, Maine, and eventually moved west to Cleveland, Ohio. After his first wife died, he married Lucy M. Stephenson (1844–1920) in 1870. He and Lucy had three children. Anna Laura and Maynard Hale Murch, Jr., survived into adulthood. Maynard, Jr., became a prominent businessman in Cleveland. Maynard, Sr., continued to build and captain ships on Lake Erie. He was known as a man of "moral courage" and great faith, who never sailed without his Bible.[18]

Anna Murch attended Cleveland Public High School, passed her Latin examination in 1890, and spent the years from 1890 to 1894 enrolled at Oberlin College. Like Will Hutchins, she took a rigorous course of study, including mathematics, sciences, French, German, rhetoricals, English, Bible, Latin, psychology, and political economy. She graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in 1896 from Mount Holyoke College, otherwise known as Mary Lyon's "Puritan convent," which, in addition to her Oberlin experience, provided her with appropriate training to be a minister's wife.[19] A gentle, shy woman, most comfortable administering quietly to people's needs, she was Will Hutchins' devoted partner, serving alongside him wherever they lived.[20]

Their first parish was the Bedford Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, New York, only a few blocks from Robert Grosvenor Hutchins' church. As they established their own family, Will Hutchins became a widely respected minister who, from 1896 to 1907, built an increasingly large and complicated organization on the corner of Dean and Nostrand streets. William Grosvenor Hutchins was born in 1898, Robert Maynard Hutchins was born in 1899, and Francis Stephenson Hutchins was born in 1902. While her husband created a parish responsive to the needs of their congregation and neighborhood, Anna taught her sons the simple courtesies they would need as good Christians and successful men. She read Dickens and other works to them and took them weekly to the public library.[21]

William and Robert could not help but be influenced by their father's leadership. In addition to the morning and evening family prayers and Sunday school, the boys attended church twice on Sundays, which included listening to their father's sermons.[22] Under his guidance, the congregation and Bible school grew. The church initiated a range of activities for children and adults that combined evangelical goals with social service. Will Hutchins' pastoral work reflected the Social Gospel preached by Washington Gladden and such proponents of the institutional church as William S. Rainsford at St. George's, an Episcopal church across the East River.[23]

Will Hutchins' sermons demonstrated his conviction about the functions of the Church in American urban society and were influenced by Gladden's Applied Christianity and the theological ideas of Henry Churchill King, who became president of Oberlin College in 1902.[24] Hutchins urged his congregation to ponder the importance of assuming responsibility for one's life and of helping others despite personal inconvenience. The Sunday school, he told them, was central to a Christian nurture that ultimately could improve society. He thought social conditions could be ameliorated if people worked together, especially if they were working for God.[25] It was the responsibility of citizens, he maintained, to stop political graft in city

(68) Obituary

Maynard H. Murch

M.H. Murch, Investment Banker, Dies

Maynard H. Murch, 91, dean of Cleveland investment bankers, a prominent industrial financier and philanthropist and founder of the Maynard H. Murch Co., an investment holding company, died Monday night in Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. Murch, a former director of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and a trustee of the Holden Arboretum and of the Cleveland Zoological Society, was born in Chardon, Nov. 3, 1874. His father was a lake captain and shipbuilder here.

His first job was as a newspaper reporter. He worked for the old Cleveland Leader, which later was merged with The Plain Dealer. According to a story Mr. Murch liked to relate, he quit as reporter because he was refused a weekly salary increase of $2 to $14.

He quit his reporting job in 1903 to sell securities.

MR. MURCH founded the investment holding company bearing his name 13 years after he was graduated from Western Reserve University.

At his death, Mr. Murch was chairman of the board of directors of the company. A son, Boynton D., is president and treasurer.

In 1920, the investment part of the business was transferred to a partnership under the name of Maynard H. Murch & Co., which was succeeded in 1950 by Fulton, Reid & Co.

Mr. Murch served as a director of many companies. These included the 1900 Corp. and its successor, the Whirlpool Corp.; White Motor Co.; Robbins & Myers Inc.; United Screw & Bolt Corp.; Hinde & Dauch Paper Co., now a part of West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.; the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad Co., now a part of the Norfolk & Western Railway Co., and the Electric Vacuum Cleaner Co., now a part of General Electric Co.

Mr. Murch had served a three-year term on the board of governors of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

HE WAS a trustee of Western Reserve University for many years and a member of its board of governors. The university honored him in 1960 with an honorary degree of doctor of humanities. His fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi, presented him with a national award in 1963 for outstanding services to education and business.

A lover of nature, Mr. Murch was a trustee of the Natural Science Museum and since 1938 had served for various periods as treasurer, president and chairman of the board. Mr. Murch established a fund at the museum to maintain educational projects for high school students.

The Cleveland Zoo was another of his interests and in 1946 he arranged for the purchase of two Kodiak bear cubs for the zoo. The two bears, Napoleon and Josephine, have long been among the main attractions at the zoo.

Mr. Murch maintained a large wooded estate and home at Kirtland, Lake County, and a summer home on Cranberry Isles on the Maine coast.

Surviving are his wife of 60 years, Leah; two sons, Boynton D. and Maynard H. Jr., and three grandsons.

Services will be at St. Paul's Church of Cleveland Heights (Episcopal), 2747 Fairmount Boulevard, at 3:30 p. m. Friday.

ASKS NOTICE OF VIOLENT DEATHS

Coroner Requests Hospitals to Heed Law and Report Suspicious Cases.

Coroner P. A. Jacobs, in a request sent all Cleveland hospitals yesterday, asks closer co-operation between hospital authorities and the coroner's office in the case of suspicious deaths.

"In the past it has been the practice of some hospitals to make out death certificates in the case of patients who have died from tab or bullet wounds and from suicide," said the coroner.

"This, of course, is a violation of state statutes, and I am warning hospital authorities continuance of the practice will result in prosecution."

Dr. Jacobs said this notice to hospitals does not mean he wishes to investigate all deaths.

The immediate provocation of the coroner's notice was the report of the death of Frank Murch, 26, of 6601 Wakefield avenue N. W., two days after he had died from poisoning and after the body had been embalmed.

"It is obvious a coronr cannot make a proper inquest after such delay," said Dr. Jacobs.

May Jesus have mercy on the Soul of

Maynard Gerald Murch
Died November 18, 1957

O GENTLEST Heart of Jesus, ever consumed with burning love for the poor captive souls in Purgatory, have mercy on the soul of Thy departed servant. Be not severe in Thy judgment but let some drops of Thy Precious Blood fall upon the devouring flames, and do Thou, O merciful Saviour, send Thy angels to conduct Thy departed servant to a place of refreshment, light and peace. Amen.

May the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

SAFETY-FOREMAN GUILD

December, 1957, News

I. INITIATION:

Willain Seitz, Sgt. of Arms, is preparing a warm reception for our neophites on Friday evening December 20th. It will be an event that will be long remembered. Every member should makd a special effort to attend.

II. SERVICE CUP:

Bob Cawthra, 12B, will be awarded the distinction of having his name engraved on the gold cup. This is the highest award that can be earned. It represents over 300 stamps in the service for West Tech. In addition to the cup award Bob will also receive an Honor Key at the Honor Award assembly next Spring--Phil Ward 12B will receive the same awards when he becomes a 12A.

III. SERVICE STAMPS:

Our neophites have been exceptionally active, this semester, in voluntering their service in the interest of safety. Already many of the cadets have earned over ten stamps-

There are plenty of opportunities to earn points. Just consult your bulletin board in room 133 or contact your president Phil Ward--DO IT NOW!

IV. RECRUITS:

This is a good time to contact your friends and invite them to sign up for foremanship next semester. If they have no grade under "C" they may write in "frm" room 131, the first period on ~~their forecast~~ envelopes. Others may sign up for the tenth period.

V. IN MEMORIUM:

The Guild lost one of its most loyal foreman in the person of Foreman Gerald Murch. He was so enthusiastic about the guild and its work that his family intered him in his white sweater and foreman emblem. We trust that all members will live so worthily that your family too will respect the Safety Foremen Guild and principles for which it stands. If you do this, Gerald Murch will not have died in vain.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to his family. He was a great FOREMAN.

VI. GRADES:

Your main job in school is your studies. The Guild stands for a high degree of scholarship which means a 2.7 average.

If the guild and its service to West Tech means anything to you; then you will make every effort to attain that average and maintain it.

Your safety counselor is ready, at all times, to advise and help you do your best. Come to room 131 before or after school if you have any problem that keeps you from doing your very best.

"Never be satisfied with less than the best."

VII. ACHIEMENT PROGRAM:

The neoplites have just completed a number of footstools and shack tables. They would make a nice inexpensive Christmas present. Come in and look them over. Come in and look them over.
